Southern Border Services

The southern border advantage Livingston's Mexico/ U.S. services

Improve your compliance and save time with Livingston's dependable southern border experts

Trusted, dependable, experienced

As a company working with shipments between Mexico and the U.S., you know that the southern border can have an entirely different process from all your other imports and exports. With offices at strategic locations, we know that processes and requirements can change drastically from port to port. Let our experienced, bilingual team help you navigate those differences to improve your compliance and give you peace of mind. Choose Livingston and you will not only get great customs brokerage services, but you will gain a partner that will take the time to understand you and your business.

Integrated warehouse and drayage services

Livingston carefully selects who we partner with at each of the ports we operate in. This diligence ensures that our bonded warehouse operations and freight forwarding services operate at their top capacity. Nothing is worse than a drayage operator that is continually late or can't find a container. To avoid situations like these, we continually monitor our partners to ensure top quality and compliance. We also understand that you may prefer to use another freight forwarder or warehouse operator. With Livingston

As North America's number one company focused on customs brokerage and compliance, Livingston International is the compliance leader on the southern border.

you have the option of taking advantage of our convenient services under one roof – or choose your own providers.

Maquiladora experience

This is where we started on the southern border and it's one of our strongest industries. If you are a maquila, or run one, we would love to talk to you. Our streamlined process and deep understanding of companies like you make us an ideal broker for maquiladoras across Mexico.

Technology at your fingertips

Customized FDA/shipment status reports, entry tracking by part or tariff number, automatic e-mail alerts – these are just some of the key features that Livingston can provide to you. Our Insight® suite of technology solutions gives you full access to all of your U.S. Customs data, along with a complete access to on demand images of your documents.

Have an EDI feed of data? Livingston processes millions of EDI transactional lines every year. Most entries take less than 10 minutes. We have the expertise and flexibility to help your business streamline its customs communications.

The regulatory and FDA experts

Regulations are constantly changing. You need someone in your corner who understands the impact those changes have on your business. Livingston can help you navigate new and revised regulations with confidence. We are one of the only customs brokers with a dedicated regulatory compliance team and FDA compliance group, focused on keeping both Livingston and our clients compliant. Whether sharing best practices for the FDA, sending out trade news alerts, or working on pilot programs from customs, we'll keep you ahead of the curve.

Need more than a customs broker on the border? Let us step in to manage your entire process along the U.S./ Mexican border whether you are going northbound or southbound. We'll coordinate with all the third-party suppliers needed along the border, including warehousing, drayage, Mexican customs brokerage, U.S. customs brokerage and freight forwarding, so that both you and your suppliers have just one single point of contact. It is not just a single point of contact that is a key benefit to you, through this service

With offices in the key locations between U.S. and Mexico, as well as established relationships with Mexican brokers, Livingston has the boots on the ground in the locations you need to keep your freight moving through the southern border.

you will also gain a partner that will become a part of your organization and will help you to reduce your overall costs by improving your efficiency on the border. Northbound, southbound, truck, rail, ocean, government contract – you name the requirement and we can accommodate it. We will walk through your process, step-by-step, and create a customized solution that fits your needs.

Smarter solutions

Livingston is a market leader in customs and compliance expertise and technology. Literally years before they come into effect, we know about regulatory changes that will impact you.

What we offer

Customs brokerage

We offer our clients expertise and market-leading technology, all designed to reduce the risk associated with their imports and exports. As a leading North American provider of customs brokerage and trade compliance services, we can help you improve your compliance with Customs, reduce your risk, and improve your visibility into the customs process.

Global trade management

Our focus on customs compliance goes beyond the port. With our global trade management solutions we become a partner with your business and directly manage part, or all of the functions that a typical customs department would handle for you. Use our strategic partnerships, experience, strict process controls and worldwide locations to your advantage so you can start seeing real cost savings in your company.

International freight forwarding

Every day, companies all across North America rely on Livingston to move their air and ocean shipments around the globe. With access to hundreds of carriers, our experts can move your freight from origin to destination on time and on budget. And our global network of offices and agents ensures that we're exactly where you, your suppliers and your customers need us to be. Ocean, air or land – we can get your shipment where it needs to be.

Trade Consulting

One of the largest and the most focused customs consulting practice in North America. Livingston's customs, regulatory and financial experts help companies implement compliance programs, meet audit requirements, recover duties and taxes and manage border security.
